

1 | He sustains the weary.

The Lord God has given me the tongue of those who are taught, that I may know how to sustain with a word him who is weary. Morning by morning he awakens; he awakens my ear to hear as those who are taught. ISAIAH 50:4

Jesus, as God's witness to the world, was sent to sustain with a word him who is weary. He is introduced not immediately as one who will pronounce judgment upon the sinful world, but as a comforter who helps the weary or tired. What does Jesus offer to those who are weary? (Matthew 11:28–30)

2 | He listens to and obeys what God has spoken.

The Lord God has opened my ear, and I was not rebellious; I turned not backward. ISAIAH 50:5

God sent Jesus to earth for a divine purpose—to redeem mankind from all sin. When Jesus lived on earth, He fully knew that purpose and how it was to be fulfilled. He was going to die a humiliating and painful death on the cross so that mankind would know and experience life with God again. Even when Jesus knew this, He was not rebellious and did not turn backward. Why did Jesus obey God? (John 14:31)

3 | He is willing to suffer persecution for God's will.

⁶I gave my back to those who strike, and my cheeks to those who pull out the beard; I hid not my face from disgrace and spitting. ⁷But the Lord God helps me; therefore I have not been disgraced; therefore I have set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be put to shame. ISAIAH 50:6,7

Not only was Jesus sent to die for us, He was going to suffer persecution for us. Throughout Jesus' life as a witness, He was shunned, ridiculed, and even harmed. Despite the persecution, shame, and pain Jesus experienced, He remained faithful because He knew what His suffering was for and that God would help Him. In whom did Jesus hope? (Isaiah 50:8,9)
